DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Claims

1. The preliminary amendment received on December 13, 2004 states that claims 3-4, 17, and 20 are amended (please see note below in section 2) and amended claims 5, 7-10, 12-13, 15, and 19.
2. Please note: claims 3-4, 17, and 20 have the status identifier of amended. However, no claim amendments are present. In addition, several claims are of improper multiple dependent form (e.g. claim 4) and/or have improper grammar (e.g. "the method of any preceding claim 1", claim 5; "the method of any one of claims 1 to 11 claim 1", claim 13; etc.). Please refer to 37 CFR 1.75. Furthermore, regarding the "use" claims (i.e. claims 23-24), applicants are referred to MPEP § 2173.05(q).

Election/Restrictions

3. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-19, drawn to a method of producing a DNA library.

Group II, claim(s) 20, drawn to a DNA library:

Group III, claim(s) 21, drawn to a method of producing a protein library.

Group IV, claim(s) 22, drawn to a protein library.

Art Unit: 1639

Group V, claim(s) 23-24, drawn to a method of using a protein library.

4. The inventions listed as Groups I-V do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the common technical feature is a library (i.e. DNA or protein). The common technical feature of a library is known in the art.

Specifically, Stemmer U.S. Patent 6,344,356 issued February 5, 2002 teaches DNA and protein libraries produced by directed molecular evolution utilizing antibodies, zinc finger domains, PCR, restriction enzymes, vectors, bacteriophage, and codon-based mutation (please refer to the entire specification particularly the abstract; Figures; columns 3-8, 15, 20, 37).

5. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

- A. a single, specific species of codon (please refer to claims 2-6)
- B. a single, specific species of additional oligonucleotide (please refer to claims 8-9)
- C. a single, specific species of additional step (please refer to claims 12-13)

6. Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species for each of A-C to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

7. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

8. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

A. claims 2-6

B. claims 8-9

C. claims 12-13

9. The following claim(s) are generic: claim 1.

10. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the species are structurally and/or functionally different.

Art Unit: 1639

11. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

12. The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

13. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

14. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
